

MICHAEL MOL

Michael Mol is one of South Africa's most famous media personalities. He is best known for co-anchoring Top Billing, South Africa's longest running prime time magazine program, since 1999, and is currently also the face of the SABC3 breakfast show Espresso, as well as the medical advice lifestyle series "Hello Doctor" which he created, produces and presents.

Michael has spoken to the stars, travelled the world and shared his experiences in a personal and endearing way with a captive audience. He is also a qualified medical doctor with a vested interest in emergency medicine and advanced trauma, cardiac and pediatric life support.

Some of his numerous accolades include a People's Award for Best TV Presenter in 2008, NTVA stone Awards for best presenter as well as for scriptwriting, and GQ's most stylish man of the year. A former Mr. South Africa, he is also a Red Cross Children's Champion and a patron of SA Cares for Life and The Living Hope Community Centre.

His interpersonal and business skills, together with his ability to identify, simplify and pass on insightful observations about the world we live in, combined with an endearing presentation style, have made him a favourite with conference organisers and business professionals around the world.

One of the busiest presenters in South Africa, Michael has been an MC at countless high-profile events, some of which include:

- Desmond Tutu HIV Foundation
- Emirates International
- Audi Awards of Distinction
- Deloitte Best Co to work for
- Premiere's Excellence Awards
- Miss South Africa, Miss South Africa Teen and Miss Africa 2001, 2002 (live broadcast across Africa, Asia & Europe to 350 million viewers)
